AVIATION.

London, March 13.

In the House of Commons Major-General Seely said it was intended to keep 102 air squadrons for defence but we should rely less on numbers than on remaining in the forefront of aerial development. The possibilities of carrying mails from Cairo to India were extremely favourable. The Postmaster General was enthusiastic about it and would co-operate in every way. Mr. Churchill proposed to concentrate the efforts of the Air Ministry on this route first. Major-General Seely pointed out that much more than the £3,000,000 mentioned in the estimates of Commons, Brigadier General Seely introducing the Air Force commons are paradously for a personnel of the Air Strates and the Peace Conference will consist of Count Brockendorff von Rantzau (President), Dector David, minister without portfolio, and Herr Giesberts, Minister of Posts; also the Hamburg merchant, Herr Max Warburg. ### RUSSIAN SITUATION.

LONDON, March 13. Reuter learns that in authoritative circles the opinion is held that the military and civil power of the Bolsheviks has reached its zenith and is already in decline owing to the exhaustion of supplies wherewith to feed its followers, coupled with the valuelessness of the paper money with which they are paid. The supply of arms and ammunition is also running low. Moreover there is constant dissension between the Soviets of Moscow and Petrograd. Railway communication is bad. Strikes are frequent. "The latest official reports from Russia confirm this gloomy situation. On the southern front the Bolsheviks continue to force back the Don Army.

On the eastern front, they are also gaining ground against the Orenburg pending. Cossacks who are demoralised by shortage of ammunition. Ukrainians and Poles are still fighting. In the Baltic states a general offensive has been opened by Germany and the Letts are proceeding satisfactorily, advancing on Riga and Mitau.

A FAMOUR HITTER.

Mr. G. L. Jessop, the famous Gloucestershire and "test" cricketer, who captained his county eleven prior to the war, has intimated his retirement from the game. Mr. Jessop's fast scoring made him the most popular cricketer in England, and his fielding was worth going a long distance to see. His phenomenal powers of collaring all sorts of bowling was never better exemplified than in a match between England and Australia in London, when he scored a century in very quick time to win a match which the Cornstalks had regarded as theirs. Mr. Jessop's cricket was unorthodox, but of the sort that never fails to arouse enthusiasm. It has been said that! Mr. D. L. A. Jephson, the Surrey ex-Captain, once remarked on seeing a batsman pull an "off" ball to the boundary in no stylish manner, "That's not cricket." The reply was, "No, but it's four." Gilbert Jessop made countless unconventional strokes in the course of his lengthy carreer in first class cricket. His place will be difficult to fill, and his retirement a heavy blow to Gloucestershire.

A LIFE WORTH LIVING.

Years ago it, was the opinion of a Hongkong author, and successfully luck. demonstrated by him in two volumes of excellent short stories, that some of those who hewail the passing of romance (in that instance from shipping) cannot see wood for trees, as the stying goes. Mr. Gilbert Chesterton has also proved to the discerna ing that it lies under the very noses of those who care to look for it. forne men are so constructed temperamentally that they knew this all. along, and needed no proof. They probably get more out of life thun the average. To their adventures come without the seeking. Life is an exciting play, and many every day objects contemptible to others by reason of the proverbial familiarity are for them bathed in colour. Of course it requires some of the identical spirit which informs the play of " Pinkie and the Fairies." It needs the Greek roul. It, wants the element of poetry. Other towns, including Singapore and Canton, have that useful adjunct a chime clock and we have not.

Our Time Ball is invisible so often through smoke, fog, or junk sails, and our noon gun is inaudible to most of the community. So why not a Memorial Clock, whose dolorous chime would constantly recall our thoughts to those we lost in the war. Since the opinion seems to be that our war memorial should he useful, - this suggestion may be passable. Yours etc.,

HONGKONG'S NEW GOVERNOR.

Mr. Stubbs may be what they call young in years, but his mind is old. He is very Oxfordian. He has self-confidence and Ceylon is a trying place for officials, full of cantankerous people who don't know what they want but want it at once. Mr. Stubbs managed them very well, and earned the approval of good judges. Except physically (a big contrast) there is much in him that would remind one of Mr. Severn, the same shrewd sense, the same sly humour, and the same capability of handling an emergency strongly and without fuss.

GENERAL MAJAGERS. York Buildings, milliards of marks which we can demand of humanity. It need not be feared that the Allies will be swayed by this very 'simple demand of humanity ' so far as to allow Germany to keep her merchant fleet intact. She has been warned time and again, by states, men' and corporate bodies of Britain, that if she persisted in her submarine. outrages she would have to make

It only remains, therefore, to endeavour to ascertain how far Germany's merchant tonnage will go toward satisfying the demands of those who have lost ships by her action. The cables have, thus far, brought us no estimate of the tonnage remaining in German harbours or how much has been left untouches ed in the few ports that have remained neutral throughout the war, but German sources estimate that there will be available some four-and-a-hulf tie untouched in neutral countries, be returned at the close of the war. CAPE TOWN with transhipment at COLOMBO to Steamers of the INDIAN about 4,500,000 tons.

Admitting these figures to be authentic, the four-and-a-half million tons of German merchant shipping. would be still far short of satisfying the demands of the Allies for restitu-.. tion in kind. The total losses of Great Britain alone during the war, including marine risks, has been placed at 8,946,000 tons of which we may assume that 1,946,000 tons was: from ordinary marine risks and legitimate losses by raiders, leaving a total of seven million tons of shipping to be mede good by Germanynot including the losses of America which were in the neighbourhood of 400,000 tons. Stated in terms of money, our bill for shipping slone,... not including the value of cargoes and. taking the value of a ton gross at £28, a mean between the pre-war figure: and that prevailing when the major part of the tonnage was sunk, in 1917.

LONDON SHIPPING OFFICES.

Office accommodation in the shiping quarter around Leadenhalfstreet is becoming difficult to find. The P. and O. Co. have acquired the whole block of offices standing between, their present premises in Leadenhall-street and St. Mary-axe. and have a great rebuilding scheme in hand as soon as the necessary inbour and materials become available: The tenants who have been displaced have found their search for new offices within easy reach of this centre most disappointing. The main reason for their difficulty lies; in the large number of suiter of small offices which have been taken by Boandinavian firms.

SHIPPING.

A TON FOR A TON.

. It seems now to be fairly sure that the Allies, no the final peace conforence, will demand the surrender of the German mercantile fleet in satisfaction of the claims of those nations that have lost tonnage through the illegal actions of submarines, consistent with the necessity of Germany, being supplied with rood and sufficient new materials to enable her to work to pay the remainder of her debt and to prevent an increase in the present hawlessness that is aiready gaining a hold on tha country. Germany herself appears to be prepared for the energies of her merchant fleet and it is asserted that the Germans, are really expecting a demand of "a ton for a ton," their great hope being that the Allies will not take what'shipping they have got "and be satisfied with that, but will tell the Germans to build for them, and thereby secure the expansion of the German shipbuilding industry, and the future of the German Merzcantile Marine.

. The Cologne Gazette, for its part, - comments as follows:--" We cannot, of course, foresee what will really. remain to us of our merchant ton; nage. The signs that the enemy de sires to diotate to us a peace of jusice and not of violence are "still very thin; President Wilson along still maintains his creed. We are regarded as debtors, and can only at. best hope that the enemy will see that it would be unwise to make a debtor incupable of paying the debt -quite apart from the fact that complete violation must plunge the peoples into fresh hatred. One thing is certain that in our merchant fleet we still possess the value of many throw into the scale, and that the release of all this tonnage for the supplying of Germany is a simple good every ton of shipping thus sacri-

One German paper arrives at the conclusion that Germany is still the "owner." of 8,700,000 tons of merchant shipping out of a total, before the war, of 5,500,000 tons. It is estimated that 2,250,000 tons are in Germany or in the immediate neighbourhood, that 750,000 tons and 625,000 tons have been confiscated by neutrals for their use, to-Even if it is assumed that 250,000 tons of the shipping in Germany has been used up by war service, Germany still owns 3,500,000 tons of the merchant shipping that she had before the war. To this is added new construction of at least 1,000,000 tons during the war, so that the whole merchant fleet is estimated at and 1918, amounts to £196,000,000.

A QUIET AND RESPECTABLE ELECTION.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

Edinburgh, December 16. During the week before the poll the interest in the General Election was greatly increased in the North Country; but only in about half-adozen constituencies can it be said that there was any excitement "Quiet, calm, and respectable," was the Prime Minister's description and no one will deny its accuracy. was not a party conflict in the ordinary sense of the word. ### HONGKONG TIDES.

The tide-table screen below has been compiled at the National Almanae Office in London from the result of the analysis of observations taken by means of an shtomatic tide recording machine in the Water Police Basin at Tsim Sha Tsui during the years 1905-9. The zero of the table corresponds with a the zero of the sounding in the Admiralty Chart, which has been found to be 4 feet I inches below mean sea-level

To obtain the depth of water on tide gauge at the Victoria Naval Yard add 3 feet 4 inches, and on the gauge at Lamont Dock, Aberdeen, add 10 to

THE CREATION OF NEW WEALTH

STATE AS PRODUCER.

"The Empire Resources Development Committee, whose joint aim to increase production and establish there'n a new source of revenue, This issued a pamphlet showing how the State may take a direct share in production and, the operations consequent upon it.

"There are many ways in which the may be done," says the writer. " As an owner of hand, for instance. the State may develop and cultivate the land itself, and not merely sell | Steebuen Road, Shanghai. or lease it to others who will engage no individuals in mineral or agricultural production. It is to this form on State activity that the committee's present proposals mainly relate. though we are equally in favour of Quest State activity in industrial or trading business, provided that action in these directions will be sufficiently renginerative, and wil not be likely to discourage industrial enterprise

Naturally, the various forms of THE Company's Steamship netivity referred to cannot be kept L continute distinct. It is ughin all Equiestion of degree. A farmer wher he brings a crop of corn to maturity is a mediater from hand, when h thusbes it he becomes an industrialist, and when he markets his grain in a builted sortes, a trader -a trader in the ord navy sense of the being a man who derives his profits from dealing with the preduce of others. But our proposals ago main-In concerned with the profits while can be made for the Empire by the development of lands which, being owned or controlled by the Crown, wan'te dealt wish without any interference whatsoever with private richts. Such realisable wealth as near he derived from, or created by their development will be wealth, and will be in the loan of assets wifels, if hold by the State, can liesteganded as a set-off against Publities; or, if sold, the proceeds
